Sub: Submission of the Annual Report for the Academic year 2020-2021

Sir,

I take the privilege to submit the 4th Annual Report of Garden City University for the academic year 2020–2021. The University commenced activities for this academic year in the month of August 2020 amidst the pandemic through a blended mode of curriculum delivery. The blended mode of sessions allowed students to join for in-campus classes in a graded manner as per the advice of the Government of Karnataka during the latter half of 2020 and early months of 2021. We have continued to ensure that there is no compromise with respect to the delivery of curriculum for the students during the pandemic situation and the University has continued its efforts to run all the programmes in an atmosphere of high discipline, strong academic commitment and transparency effectively as done in the past.

The main focus of the University has been to give the best of quality education to all the students and all the programmes have been curated to achieve student centric learning. The University quickly adapted various teaching and learning methodologies which ensured that every student continued to receive excellent education throughout the pandemic. Examinations were conducted online and results were declared on time. The virtual convocation was held for the graduating batch of students encouraging and motivating the first ever batch of undergraduate and post-graduate students graduating from the University.

The placements have been encouraging and as we have introduced compulsory internships for all students of under graduation and post graduations in the final semester of a programme. This has received positive acknowledgement from the industry.

During the pandemic season, the University ensured to conduct various international and national level events, forge new collaborations with public and private institutions and also conduct various activities in the field of research, innovation and IPR development, the details of which are all presented in the report enclosed here with.

With the above achievements carried out during the last academic year the University vows to march ahead in the year to come with greater and bigger commitments.

Yours sincerely

FOREWORD

I am pleased to introduce this year's Annual Report, which illustrates the University's commitment to advancing excellence in education, research, and entrepreneurship. It is, as always, filled with vigour and aligned to our motto 'Emphasis on Life'.

We held our ground during these wavering times through extensive digital presence, training programmes, online courses, and resource provisions. The University's robust online teaching framework enabled the students to keep up their academic progress from their respective homes without compromising on the rigour of graduate education. From providing intuitive learning materials, weekly webinars, online project work, simulated practical classes, online social responsibility initiatives and online de-stressor wellbeing activities, students were nurtured in all aspects. Our values, our goals, and our central belief in the essential importance of what we do here at GCU reached a new and growing student community through our various digital mediums and social media handles.

The University was established through the Act No.47 of 2013 in Karnataka State and is approved by UGC and a member of the AIU. This year we went through the periodical inspection conducted by a committee constituted by the Karnataka State Higher Education Council. The visit by the committee, their appreciations and acknowledgement helped boost the morale of the faculty members and the functionaries of the University.

The relationship between the University and its stakeholders is a very close one. The University draws upon parent-teachers meeting, personal academic counselling to enrich and involve the parents of our students. The pandemic and rapid advancements in technology are affecting all our lives and it is fascinating to see how students, teachers and parents are responding to the challenges and opportunities that are offered by these ongoing situations. As a part of the University Social Responsibility, all students were given a COVID-19 Endurance Scholarship with a 25% waiver on the fee.

Indeed, one reason for GCU's ongoing success is that it does not rest on its laurels but works tirelessly to maintain its outstanding position whilst adapting to the increasingly fluid macro societal demands of the current times. The achievements of the University are the result of an uncompromising commitment to excellence across the board and the professionalism, creativity, and innovation of its staff members and the leadership. In the feedback from the stakeholders, an overwhelming percentage of those who responded said that they believe that GCU is genuinely committed to making a positive impact on education, research and student lives. In the pages that follow, you will see why that faith is justified.

Vice Chancellor

SCHOLARSHIP REPORTS 2020-21

The COVID-19 pandemic which hit the world early 2020 severely affected the global economy. The impact was felt by every household. Many lost not only their near and dear ones but also their jobs which opened up a void with respect to education. Many students were forced to give up their dreams of education as their families couldn't afford their education. The plight of hundreds of young students moved the Chancellor of Garden City University, Dr Joseph V G and he immediately launched the COVID-19 Endurance Scholarship. The scholarship was a heavy sigh of relief for all the students of GCU who thought that they would have to discontinue education. More than 25% of the total fee of each student was waived off following this scholarship which helped the families that suffered financial loss during the crisis to manage education for their wards. It gave a new hope to the young students to keep pursuing their degree from one of the prestigious institutions in India. Guardians and students extended their heartfelt thanks to GCU for acting proactively on making sure that quality education doesn't hinder due to the pandemic. The details of the number of students who availed the scholarship are mentioned here:

GCU ONLINE EDUCATION (DURING COVID-19 PANDEMIC)

The COVID-19 pandemic forced all the universities across the world to shut down their campuses indefinitely and move their educational activities onto online platforms. The universities around the world least anticipated such a major transition and their online learning and teaching gradually developed with the passage of time.

Garden City University developed not only an online curriculum framework but also initiated a blended mode of learning and teaching called GCU ALFA during these tough times. The decision to switch to a better and safer platform i.e. Microsoft Teams was taken to ensure that no student suffers from any academic loss due to the pandemic. Also keeping in mind that the pandemic situation might prevail for longer period, Garden City University launched its exclusive student oriented ERP which is immensely beneficial to both faculty members and students.

The theory sessions for students have been restricted to a shorter duration as research has shown that the online attention span of a student is not more than 8 - 17 minutes. The online class is augmented by a pre and post session. MS Sways containing relevant material and study videos are shared with the students at least 48 hours before the session so that they are ready for the session. Post the online session a mandatory assignment session is posted comprising of 25 marks to evaluate a student's learning. For the benefit of all students, practical sessions are conducted in a simulated mode so that students get the real time feel of practical sessions conducted in laboratories.

The regular academic activities along with the classes were all taken in online or blended mode. Along with these activities, GCU took the responsibility to enhance the skills of the students by conducting sessions for soft skills, research and personality development through GCU ACE, ViCTeL and ViCLiS sessions that opened opportunities for students to earn certificates.

Also, the university used this opportunity to make the students have interactions with eminent personalities and industrial experts. Their valuable experience and knowledge was shared with the students and faculty members through the weekly webinar sessions. These webinars were conducted as Generic webinars and Department Specific Webinars.

STUDENT'S PROFICIENCY IN USING LEARNING MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

Emergence of COVID-19 pandemic in March 2020, made all educational institutions across the globe shut down their operations for an indefinite period of time. Garden City University has always believed and strived to ensure the process of education should never stop. With this view in mind, online classes were started within 7 days of closing the campus along with readily available content for the students to refer to (since library access was also not there for the students). As a University, we used the following tool for Learning Management System (LMS) creation:

1. Microsoft Teams
2. Microsoft Sway
3. Microsoft Outlook

We developed content for each sub-unit of a unit of each course in a particular semester of a programme. There was an overwhelming number of Microsoft Sway content created by the faculty members of Garden City University. Microsoft Sway is a newsletter kind of platform, wherein, content can be arranged aesthetically by embedding videos, audios, podcasts, excel workbooks, presentations, etc. We used Microsoft Teams to conduct interactive sessions, discussion forums, Q and A session with the students to discuss the contents developed. One MS Team Channel is created for each semester of a programme in Microsoft Teams so that communication specific to sessions, course delivery, notebooks, particular to that programme can be delivered to those set of students. Each and every communication posted in Microsoft Teams reach every students as an email alert in their Microsoft Outlook email account. An understanding of the number of interactions that happened with the students is given below:

|--|----------|
| Number of Microsoft Sway Content Created               | 56,800   |
| Number of online sessions conducted in Microsoft Teams | 76,650   |
| Number of interactions posted in Microsoft Outlook     | 8,77,500 |

Apart from the above initiatives, Garden City University also decided to invest in creating a better future for the students by installing India's number one educational Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) module, Juno Campus, throughout the entire operations of the University. With the introduction of the ERP, organizing, coordinating, communicating and monitoring various academic functions became very efficient.

GCU SCHOOL ADOPTION

Working towards University Social Responsibility is one of the main objectives of Garden City University. The Chancellor of Garden City University, Dr Joseph V. G has extended his noble and kind gesture towards five underdeveloped schools of Bangalore. The University under his guidance has adopted those schools to extend philanthropic services in developing quality skills, and making the schools hubs of generating knowledge. The names of the schools adopted by Garden City University are:

1. Government Higher Primary School, Kithaganur, East Taluk, Bengaluru South Zone
2. Government Model Primary School, Seegehalli, East Taluk, Bengaluru South Zone 4
3. Government Lower Primary School, Battarahalli, East Taluk, Bengaluru South Zone 4

4. Government High School, Ramamurthy Nagar, East Taluk, Bengaluru South Zone 4
5. Government Higher Primary School, Chikka Basavanapura, East Taluk, Bengaluru South Zone 4

Time and again various skill activities and trainings are conducted for students and teachers of the five schools, like basic communication skills in English, computer skills for students, Language learning sessions to name a few. # GCU PUBLICATION HOUSE

With the vision of generating knowledge beyond classroom education for students, scholars, and faculty members, GCU Publication division was started in the year 2017. The publication division aims to create awareness on knowledge creation among the students, scholars, and faculty members, identify the right talent for knowledge creation and provide required mentoring support and technical assistance and provide a platform for publication. The publication division encourages original and beneficial knowledge creation for the society and the nation. The Coordinator-Publications govern the publication house. The coordinator-publications liaisons with all the academic departments of Garden City University and external stakeholders involved in publications and promotions.

The publication house is responsible for bringing out departmental weekly e-magazines, research and innovation magazines, monthly newsletters, department ISSN journal publications, ISBN book publications, etc. The passion for education and new knowledge creation prompted our Chancellor to fund all the expenditure involved in the complete publication process. In the year 2020, the publication division is registered as the GCU PRESS.

GCU PRESS is committed to ensure excellent individual support to every author in the publishing support. GCU PRESS has already published seven books and for the year 2020-21 has received eight proposals from the faculty members to publish their works.

BEST PRACTICES OF THE DEPARTMENTS

| Department                 | TOURISM   |
|----------------------------|---|
| Title of the Practice      | Analysing tourism components at a destination through itinerary preparation   |
| Objectives of the Practice | As a budding professional in the field of travel and tourism, one of the basic activities that we encourage students to try is to identify the components of tourism. Being a service industry, tourism components are of utmost importance for the phenomenon of tourism to be completed successfully. The students are allotted with a destination and they are made to prepare an itinerary for the same. They are encouraged to choose a circuit. During this time the student has to review the various components and elements involved in tourism and for successfully creating the tour package which brings in better understanding about the various players in the markets, products available, etc.   |
| Context and Challenges     | The exercise helps students in gaining knowledge about the various types of players in the market, their business plans and strategies, pricing of product which is of utmost importance. Through this exercise, students get a fair idea about pricing of various suppliers. Challenge comes when there are not enough information available especially in the public domain, during such times, the student is made to talk to the local suppliers and derive information from them. Talking to the local suppliers also helps them understand the problems faced by the suppliers and understand the demand pattern at a destination.  |
| The Practices              | As a part of the activities conducted to engage students, the department has assigned this task to all the students. Each student was assigned with a particular destination on which they are supposed to prepare the itinerary upon. But besides preparing the itinerary, the student is supposed to review the current status of the destination as per the TALC model and identify all the various components of tourism. Once they identify the availability of those components, they search for the actual suppliers who contribute towards the availability of those components. All aspects of transportation system, road networks, railways (wherever applicable), air network (wherever applicable), types of accommodation types which include primary accommodation facilities as well as secondary accommodation facilities, amenities, activities for tourists, and of course the condition of the attractions, options to visit various attractions were analysed and the itinerary was prepared. The itinerary was then shared with the mentor who would review the work. |

| Evidence of Success  | Through this exercise, students have been able to better understand the importance of the components, which they were further able to place in the correct order. Each student stated their analysis by reviewing the destination using the Tourism Area Life Cycle model developed by Prof. Butler. The students, post review of this model were able to determine the stage in which the destination is presently in. After this the students review the components. They start with accessibility which is the second component of tourism. This is followed by accommodation. In accommodation the various options that tourists have at the destination is reviewed. This is followed by the various amenities which are available at the destination. Part of the amenities are also included in the infrastructure of the destination and this is followed by activities. The exercise has helped the students to understand the basic elements which are required for a place to succeed as a destination. It has also helped them in understanding the components of itinerary preparation. |
| Areas of improvement | One of the biggest challenges faced during this exercise is that students were not able to travel to any of the destinations while analysing it. The pandemic has stopped us from visiting destinations, especially those which cater to mass tourism. If the students were able to visit the destination, they could have seen and learnt the components better rather than learning from secondary data available in the public domain. In the post pandemic times, if the students can go on the study tour and are asked to analyse the destination, they would be able to attain much better understanding about the place.   |

Karnataka Science and Technology Academy to provide an opportunity to broaden the horizon of the knowledge of students and lecturers in cutting edge technologies and frontier science. To bring awareness among the students regarding invention /discoveries in the field of science and technology. The major challenge in the present situation is in conducting a live session for students which will improve their scientific skills. The department will be organising online workshops for the students and expects that the students will be benefitted from these workshops. |

| Evidence of Success  | Students were motivated to bring up several project proposals and present them.  |
| Areas of improvement | More webinars and more skill based sessions need to be conducted to meet all objectives that we have defined.  |

| Title of the Practice      | Find the Poet in You  |
| Objectives of the Practice | Poetry is an important componet of literature. It reflects on the soul of an individual. Students have always enjoyed reading poetry and this activity involved them becoming poets themselves. Students went all creative and composed poetry of their imagination. The activity generated creative knowledge. |
| Context and Challenges     | During Children’s Literature class, students were introduced to the basic themes and elements of Children poetry. Students attempted writing poetry. Challenge: To get students to believe and explore their skills   |
| The Practices              | Students were asked to select one of the four given themes and write short poetry. Students wrote and read it in the class. It was a great experience as students felt confident and were able to produce quality work and discussed the same.  |
| Evidence of Success        | Majority of the students were able to write poetry and build their confidence.  |
| Areas of improvement       | Based on the feedback from peer group students can improve and the final draft will be published in GCU World   |

| Department                 | LANGUAGES   |
|----------------------------|---|
| Title of the Practice      | Metacognitive Strategies in Learning  |
| Objectives of the Practice | Students are given opportunities to plan and organize, monitor their own work, direct their own learning, and to self-reflect along the way. When we provide students with time and space to be aware of their own knowledge and their own thinking, the student ownership increases. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Person variables: What one recognizes about his or her strengths and weaknesses in learning and processing information.</li> <li>• Task variables: What one knows or can figure out about the nature of a task and the processing demands required to complete the task—for example, knowledge that it will take more time to read, comprehend, and remember a technical article than it will for a similar-length passage from a novel.</li> </ul> |

| Context and Challenges | Recent pedagogical shifts have stressed the importance of empowering students to learn how to be self-regulated, independent learners. Beyond the University, the teacher would not be able to hold their hands. This necessitates students’ meaningful reflection on their learning. In order to solve difficult or unforeseen problems, students must be critical analysts of their own thought. This method encourages students to think beyond the simple “submit to feedback” theory to a more active phase in which they would consider what kind of feedback they would want, what guidance they would offer themselves, and where they believe they need to change. This method allows students to take charge of their own learning and development, making them more autonomous. |
| The Practices          | The strategy is implemented in day-to-day class. The act of being confused and identifying one’s lack of understanding is an important part of developing self-awareness. At the end of every session one challenging question is asked- , “What was most confusing about the material we explored today?” This not only jumpstarts metacognitive processing, but also creates a classroom culture that acknowledges confusion as an integral part of learning.  |
| Evidence of Success    | Students have become conscious of their prejudices because of the above-mentioned technique, prejudices that obstruct healthy growth. By fostering discourse that questions individual and social prejudices, we have built a classroom atmosphere conducive to deeper learning and reflexivity. When students discuss prejudices and moral dilemmas in politics, wealth, and prejudice, or when they write essays about them, in turn it makes the students more flexible and adaptive thinkers.  |
| Areas of improvement   | Need to create for space and time to emphasize the importance of personal reflection during and after learning experiences. Encourage learners to critically analyze their own assumptions and how this may have influenced their learning.  |

| 2     | School of Professional Studies | Use of VR in Tourism                    | Virtual Reality in tourism has been considered as one of the most advanced technologies used in tourism. VR tourism is, in fact developed as a form of tourism. Using VR in tourism allows students to take a tour to some of the most famous, relevant, and iconic places in the planet and experience the landscape, and surroundings of those tourist attractions.              | Virtual Reality Videos, VR Glasses                  | This was in fact a new experience for the students. Although they were aware about Virtual Tourism, the usage of VR in tourism and experiencing the same had provided the students with the required exposure to understand the technology in a better way. The Department has recorded supporting videos and pictures of the conduct of this activity.   |
| 3     | School of Professional Studies | Flipped Classroom                       | One of the Gen-Z methods widely used in the future education system is the idea of Flipped Classrooms. This is a popularly accepted method which has also proven to be productive and incredibly efficient for the development of the students. This method is regarded as one of the leading techniques which the teachers, implementing modern teaching methods should consider. | Online modes - GRMS, MS Teams, Google Meet and Zoom | Classrooms are being equipped with technology. Evaluations are being done at all stages. Crossover learning, focus more on an understanding of concepts, skill development and values development are put in the most crucial place. Interactive whiteboards and collaborative learning were focussed on. Emphasis was more on practical knowledge. Activity-based, gaming based learning, Integrative and research-based learnings are the highlights. |

| 4     | School of Professional Studies | Hands on training, Project based learning, Analysis and application based learning, Brain storming and Interactive sessions, Internships - On job training | Students are asked to design or sketch various designs, for example; Indian ancient authentic art, fabric painting, developing fashion products and sending finished products photos to respective faculty members and designing software online training. Short videos are played in the learning period after the session for better understanding. A talk by an expert arranged in fashion field/ Webinars or workshops or exhibitions were arranged for the benefit of the students. | For online mode platforms like MS Teams, GRMS portal, Google meet, you tube videos, e-resources are used. For offline mode PPT, projectors, hands on training, On site experience à Window displays at retail stores, projects working on wall painting   | Students are satisfied with continuous engagement through project based activities, however there is a slight discontent as the practicals are conducted on online mode.   |
| 5     | School of Media Studies        | Incidental Learning  | Incidental learning is unplanned or unintentional learning. It may occur while carrying out an activity that is seemingly unrelated to what is learned. Early research on this topic deals with how people learn in their daily routines at their workplaces.  | For many people, mobile devices have been integrated into their daily lives, providing many opportunities for technology-supported incidental learning. Unlike formal education, incidental learning is neither led by a teacher, nor does it follow a structured curriculum, or result in formal certification. However, it may trigger self-reflection and this could be used to encourage learners to reconceive what could otherwise be isolated learning fragments as part of more coherent and longer-term learning journeys. | Many students showed their interest in this type of learning. They feel that can reduce barriers to participation by providing interesting incidents.  |
| 6     | School of Sciences             | Glass Board Teaching   | The transparent glass board teaching requires a very clean transparent dry-erase board that lets you write with fluorescent markers. This board resembles the traditional use of chalkboards and white boards in education. The use of light and cameras creates an effect of live streaming for teaching online. Glass light boards would be an efficient and interactive way to teach in the future.   | Glass Board   | This method was well appreciated by the students, as it gives the students the effects equivalent to classroom teaching on an online mode. This method of teaching was highly beneficial when in involves numerical, chemical structure, derivation of pathways etc. |

The learners in the off line mode seemed to be more satisfied as they could get a hands on experience of the skill they were taught and could practice it on their peers. Few students on the online mode had connectivity issues. |

1) Ms. Fathimath Nabeeha Ahmed

Nationality: Maldivian

Course: Second year, Bachelor's in Business Administration

GCU, both on-campus and online classes have been and still is an immersive experience. I am currently in my second year of my Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration. Although my university experience has been forced to shift entirely online, due to the ongoing pandemic, GCU has been extremely accommodating and has been up-to speed in terms of being able to cope with the shift in teaching and learning online. The faculty members are also constantly in touch with the students, ensuring that we are keeping up with the syllabus as well as looking after and prioritizing ourselves. Aside from the regular syllabus, I have constant webinars from industry specialists too, organized by the faculty of GCU, that which I have been making the most of. GCU has also allowed its students to do online courses in order to increase the skills and qualifications of the students. The International Cell, in particular has been extremely helpful while applying for the Visa/ Residential Permit which are necessary documents needed from the FRRO. Any possible confusion that would've arose from attempting to navigate the website alone, was alleviated with the constant guidance from the International Cell of GCU. I'm thoroughly enjoying my time at GCU even though, I am currently physically back home.

Nationality: Maldivan

Course: Second year, Diploma in Hospitality Management

It is indeed a privilege for me to be associated with Garden City University as a DHM student who is on 100% scholarship from the university. The International Cell always assists us on Visa extension, residential permit and permissions on exit permit to visit our home country. I'm quite thankful to the university and proud to mention that I stayed back in the hostel during the COVID-19 pandemic. The online classes and guidance from our professors are commendable. The university hostel in-charge took utmost care of me. I'm extremely happy and do appreciate the university and the international cell.
