FOREWORD

Garden City Education Trust was established in 1992 with the main motto of 'Emphasis on Life', three decades later, Garden City University continues to touch and transform the lives of thousands of students, creating "dreamers, achievers, and winners". The University was established under Act No. 47 of 2013 in Karnataka State and is approved by the UGC and is a member of the AIU.

I am pleased to present the annual report, detailing the various activities and our achievements during the academic year 2021–2022.

The last year has been one of extraordinary achievement in the face of the challenge of navigating the pandemic. Garden City University has set the bar high by implementing NEP 2020 in its curriculum for all the UG courses for the academic year. The report illustrates the university's commitment to progress in the fields of education, research, innovation, incubation, and entrepreneurship. Garden City University has always valued its stakeholders, and the periodic parent-teacher meetings, USR activities, internships, and curriculum that meets international standards reflect the importance given to the stakeholders.

The faculty members and students adapted to the blended mode and moved in leaps and bounds to ensure that we acquired global competencies without losing touch with our indigenous values. Industry and academic collaborations with national and international organisations helped achieve this goal. To ensure that the joy of learning was not hampered by the digital mode, we incorporated learning materials, weekly webinars, online project work, simulated practical classes, online social responsibility initiatives, and online stressor wellbeing activities.

The management, faculty members, and staff members work tirelessly to maintain its outstanding position whilst adapting to the increasingly fluid macro-societal demands. The achievements of the university are the result of an uncompromising commitment to excellence across the board and the professionalism, creativity, and innovation of its staff members and leadership. GCU has earned the trust of its stakeholders as a university that is genuinely committed to making a positive impact on education, research, society, and student lives. In the pages that follow, you will see why that faith is justified.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

INTRODUCTION

The annual report of Garden City University provides a comprehensive encapsulation of the various academic and administrative activities of the university from April 2021 to March 2022. The academic year 2021–2022 has been an incredible period as GCU took a big leap ahead with the implementation of NEP 2020. It was a year of transition as the university witnessed the movement to the blended mode (taking the best of online and offline modes) and then to the full-fledged offline mode. This year also saw the return of students to the campus, bringing life to the campus. 2021–2022 has always been a university with foresight and was able to implement NEP 2020. It has adapted to the various challenges successfully and became one of the first universities to implement NEP efficiently. The major highlights of the year included the conduct of international and national level events that resulted in collaborations with private and public institutions. As a university that focuses not only on the immediate needs but on ensuring global competency, the main focus this year was on research, innovation, IPR, entrepreneurship developmental activities, and university social responsibility activities. These activities help instil the required skills and ensure that our students contribute towards nation building. Garden City University believes in ensuring the ‘joy of learning’ at every step of education. The implementation of NEP, conferences, webinars, entrepreneurship studios, and all the events listed in the report ensured that students gained the necessary life skills while the joy of learning was not lost in any step.

ABOUT THE REPORT

The list of members of the statutory bodies for the academic year 2021–22 is included in the report. The annual report 2021–2022 sheds light on the efforts and activities taken up by the IQAC cell to enforce quality in all the activities (academic and non-academic) across the university. The method of examination, and the evaluation pattern for both undergraduate and post-graduate students are explained in the report. The details regarding NEP implementation for all the undergraduate programmes with the emphasis on skill development in line with the GCU objective of ‘Professionally Doing and Scientifically Knowing’ are highlighted. The various events hosted by the university are also highlighted in the report.

The IQAC cell of the university has closely worked with each department across all schools of the university to identify innovative teaching methods and best practices, and has helped each of the departments to implement them in their respective classes. The IQAC conducted SWOC analysis to identify the upcoming challenges in each department and strategically planned and helped them overcome the challenges, thereby enhancing the strength of the respective department.

At GCU, the emphasis has been on life and life skills. The need for research and international collaboration was identified as the need of the hour. The University has a very effective international cell that helps the students and faculty members collaborate with foreign universities for research and other academic activities. Different programmes were conducted in collaboration with international universities and are detailed in the report. The details of the various MoUs with national and international organizations are highlighted in the report. MOUs were signed with industries and universities across the globe for knowledge transfer and cultural exchange. The report includes details of the academic programmes and the various value-added courses offered by each school/department.

The IQAC cell and the Research and Innovation Council (RIC) of the University were very active during the academic year 2021–2022, and the various activities under the umbrella of IQAC and RIC, like inter-departmental collaborations, industry-academic collaborative activities, webinars, and seminars, contributions by external resource members helped in knowledge sharing and skill development.

The details of international conferences organised by every department with the theme of IBEE ((INNOVATION-BUSINESS-EMPLOYMENT-ENTREPRENEURSHIP) and the fast-track skill development programmes helped to ensure that our students are ready to contribute to sustainable development and ensure global competency. The parent-teachers' meetings, mentor-mentee activities, the NSS and NCC activities, and sports activities were regular activities of the University as per the calendar for the academic year 2021–2022. The learning competencies of the students, their participation and achievements in various academic and extracurricular activities are highlighted. The report includes details of internship and placement records of the final year students and convocation.

At Garden City University, we believe in the need for continuous learning, and this report details the participation of faculty members in various development programmes. The report encompasses information about the faculty members and their achievements for the academic year 2020–2021.

CURRICULUM DESIGN AT GCU

The curriculum at the university is carefully designed with current advances and emerging trends in various fields of study in mind. The curriculum was drafted in line with NEP 2020 for all the undergraduate programmes and stressed on 'professionally doing and scientifically knowing'.

The team involved in curating the syllabi includes academic subject matter experts along with experts from the industry, and they ensure that the syllabi are in line with the industry requirements. The university has adopted the Choice Based Credit System of curriculum design in line with NEP 2020 and the students and faculty members have adapted well to the system. The university tries to encompass practical elements in all the courses.

A UNIVERSITY THAT GROWS WITH THE STUDENTS

GCU has always been a place that is ready to face challenges and embrace change. The student enrolment witnessed a positive momentum even though the pandemic and the uncertainty posed a major challenge, and deserving students were awarded a scholarship. The evaluation pattern was modified to meet the emerging needs and to include critical analysis. Project Based Assignments (PBA) and case studies are part of the pedagogy for every course.

CARING FOR THE STUDENTS

Garden City University has always ensured to cater to students who are staying in the hostel and provide the experience of a home away from home. The university provides state-of-the-art infrastructure and facilities to ensure the physical fitness and wellness of the students.

The academic year 2021-2022 witnessed NOSTOS (homecoming) event, organized for the students of the 2021 batch and 2020 batch who had missed the activities in campus due to the pandemic. Various cultural programmes and competitions were organized to introduce the new students to the culture of the university. As a university that cares for the students, the safety of the students and ensuring the 'joy of learning' were considered top priorities. NOSTOS was a platform for students to showcase their skills and to explore new arenas.

The university has a record of having no instances of ragging with proactive measures taken by the monitoring committee and sensitizing students as per the directives of UGC.

LEADING THE WAY

The dynamic and progressive leadership of the university is reflected in the various initiatives that are not only oriented to the needs of the current situation but also for sustainable futuristic goals. To ensure that GCU is a step ahead in every aspect, there are scheduled academic audits for all schools in the university. Administrative audits, checks and balances are in place to monitor the operational and support units of the university. The feedback and grievances from different stakeholders are closely monitored and act as true inputs for improvising the functioning of the university. Automated systems are in place to avoid human error. To achieve better efficiency, e-governance is in place by ensuring complete automation of the examination processes and updating of student and staff portals. The statutory bodies and units of the university ensure a motivating work and study environment by providing equal and unbiased opportunities irrespective of caste, creed, gender, and economic background.

HOLISTIC EDUCATION

This report highlights several best practices implemented by GCU, including the integration of graduate and postgraduate curricula with research. The details of the ACE, ViCTeL, ViCLIS, PBA, Case Study, weekly webinars, and departmental webinar sessions, conducted for knowledge sharing and skill development, are discussed. The IBEE conference, organized by every department, is detailed in the report as the conference focused on the need for innovation and entrepreneurship in every domain. The IIPC worked hard to ensure that all students were placed for internships, and the various activities organized, including placement training, are mentioned in the report. The internship helps develop the practical skills of students and ensure that they are industry ready.

Skill enhancement courses and Open elective courses are taught at Garden City University, where the students are allowed to pick a course from other schools of their choice and interest. In addition to the core specialization of a student, the student gets an opportunity to get associated with other schools in the university, and thus learning becomes holistic. In addition to this, foreign languages (French/German/Spanish) are also offered to the students as an Open Elective. MIL (Modern Indian Language) is offered as an AECC (Ability Enhancement Compulsory Course) and the syllabi are framed to inculcate values regarding culture, environmental protection, equality, and individual rights and responsibilities.

THE UNIVERSITY OF DIVERSITY

Garden City University believes that its greatest strength is its diversity. Events like 'G See You' are organized for every student to showcase their talent and diversity. The student diversity at Garden City University comes together to display their regional diversities and derive various learning outcomes from organizing folk, food, and cultural events. The entrepreneurship studios organized by each department paved the way to develop and showcase the entrepreneurship skills of students, which is a need of the hour.

CONCLUSION

The details of the academic and administrative functionalities of the University for the Academic Year 2021–2022 are presented comprehensively in the report. The best practices will be enhanced further, leading to the best possible university operations. Also, the SWOC report will be used as a framework to plan academic and administrative operations for the upcoming academic year.

STUDENTS LEARNING COMPETENCY ASSESSMENT

Student's learning competency assessment is one of the essential academic activities followed at Garden City University. The learning competency assessment helps the course instructors, class teachers, and heads of the department to design strategies to fulfil the learning needs of fast learners, moderate learners, and slow learners. Although the conduct of classes for all the students is common, additional learning assistance is provided for three types of learner groups. For example, fast learners are provided with additional/advanced study materials, moderate learners are provided with the opportunity to meet the course instructors to clarify doubts/seek learning assistance, and special classes are organized for the slow learners. These efforts will help to achieve success in the overall delivery of education. The details of the students learning competency assessment are provided in the table below:

STUDENT'S PROFICIENCY IN USING LEARNING MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

The emergence of COVID-19 pandemic in March 2020, made all educational institutions across the globe shut down their operations for an indefinite period. Garden City University has always believed in and strived to ensure the process of education should never stop. With this view in mind, online classes were started within 7 days of closing the campus along with readily available content for the students to refer to (since library access was also not there for the students). As a university, we used the following tool for Learning Management System (LMS) creation:

1. Microsoft Teams
2. Microsoft Sway
3. Microsoft Outlook

We developed content for each sub-unit of a unit of each course in a particular semester of a programme. There was an overwhelming number of Microsoft Sway content created by the faculty members of Garden City University. Microsoft Sway is a newsletter kind of platform, wherein, content can be arranged aesthetically by embedding videos, audios, podcasts, excel workbooks, presentations, etc. We used Microsoft Teams to conduct interactive sessions, discussion forums, Q and A session with the students to discuss the contents developed. One MS Team Channel is created for each semester of a programme in Microsoft Teams so that communication specific to sessions, course delivery, notebooks, particular to that programme can be delivered to those set of students. Each and every communication posted in Microsoft Teams reaches every student as an email alert in their Microsoft Outlook email account. An understanding of the number of interactions that happened with the students is given below:

Number of Microsoft Sway Content Created	68,700
Number of online sessions conducted in Microsoft Teams	91,250
Number of interactions posted in Microsoft Outlook	9,53,550

Apart from the above initiatives, Garden City University also decided to invest in creating a better future for the students by installing India's number one educational Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) module, Juno Campus, throughout the entire operations of the University. With the introduction of the ERP, organizing, coordinating, communicating, and monitoring various academic functions became very efficient.

GCU LOOKOUT WEBINAR SERIES

Be it technology be it innovations, GCU is in the forefront to cater to the students hailing from 81 countries and all parts of the nation. Knowledge sharing is a major tool used for building up the future of students. GCU Lookout – weekly webinar is an initiative by the University to connect with stalwarts of various fields of expertise like scientists, TEDx speakers, HR professionals, IT professionals etc to share their knowledge with students and upgrade them in the knowledge front. In addition, GCU Lookout helps our students to stay relevant to the technology and expertise and gives them an update to the student community on various opportunities and job profile.

GCU PUBLICATION HOUSE

With the vision of generating knowledge beyond classroom education for students, scholars, and faculty members, GCU Publication division was started in the year 2017. The publication division aims to create awareness on knowledge creation among the students, scholars, and faculty members, identify the right talent for knowledge creation and provide required mentoring support and technical assistance and provide a platform for publication.

The publication division encourages original and beneficial knowledge creation for the society and the nation.

The coordinator-publications govern the publication house. The coordinator-publications liaisons with all the academic departments of Garden City University and external stakeholders involved in publications and promotions. The publication house is responsible for bringing out departmental weekly e-magazines, research and innovation magazines, monthly newsletters, department ISSN journal publications, ISBN book publications, etc. The passion for education and new knowledge creation prompted our Chancellor to fund all the expenditure involved in the complete publication process. In the year 2021, the publication division is registered as the GCU PRESS. GCU PRESS is committed to ensure excellent individual support to every author in the publishing support. GCU PRESS has already published seven books and for the year 2021-22 has received nine proposals from the faculty members to publish their works.

The GCU PRESS closely reviews research paper publications of the faculty members of Garden City University. The press organizes webinars and workshops for faculty members to train and enhance the knowledge of research paper publication. The GCU PRESS promotes research and innovation through Research and Innovation Magazine (RIM) which has the aim of taking Research and Innovation to the market to achieve a desirable outcome. The Research and Innovation Magazine provides an opportunity for the researchers and the inventors to promote their Research and Innovation outcomes to readers across the globe. The diverse reader's segment ranging from students, scholars, academicians, researchers, industry professionals, policymakers, and practitioners, makes the RIM a unique process. The RIM provides a platform for both the internal and external stakeholders to publish not only their research work but also about products and services developed by the companies after a thorough Research & Consultancy. Weekly magazines are the focal point of GCU Press. Each department comes up with weekly e-magazine every Saturday that emphasizes on the current issues and trends in the market. The magazine has also given room for the creativity of students and has initiated various creative projects side by side.

BEST PRACTICES OF THE DEPARTMENTS

Department : Life Sciences

Title of the Practice	Industrial Visit
Objectives of the Practice	To provide students a chance to learn practically from theoretical knowledge through interaction, working methods, and employment practices in large industries.
Context and Challenges	It gives exposure to current work practices against possibly theoretical knowledge being taught at school or in colleges. Industrial visits provide a wonderful opportunity to interact with industries and know more about the industrial environment, how the machines are working, and which principles they work for.
The practices	Through industrial visits, students get to know about the latest technologies. Technology development could be the main factor, about which students should have a piece of good knowledge in their fields. Visiting different companies helps students to make a good relationship with those companies.
Evidence of Success	Building relationships with companies has always been good because it helps to get a good job in the future. After visiting an industry, students will have a combined knowledge about both theory and practical. Students will be more concerned about getting employment after undertaking an industrial visit.
Areas of improvement	Multiple Industrial visits can be planned and implemented every semester.

Title of the Practice	Hands on Training on Laboratory skills
Objectives of the Practice	To engage in well-designed laboratory experiences, develop problem-solving and critical-thinking skills, as well as gain exposure to reactions, materials, and equipment in a lab setting.
Context and Challenges	Hands-on laboratory science experiences are critical to the learning process across all areas of study, beginning with kindergarten and continuing through post-secondary education. Research has shown that students who engage in well-designed laboratory experiences develop problem-solving and critical-thinking skills, as well as gain exposure to reactions, materials, and equipment in a lab setting. Sustained investments in hands-on experiences help inspire students to further their education and prepare them for high-technology careers by fostering skills sought by potential employers.
The practices	During hands-on training activities, students directly and safely investigate chemical and biological properties and reactions, utilizing laboratory apparatus and instruments. These activities are essential for learning biotechnology and improving science literacy. Web-based and computer-simulated activities may help increase student exposure to advanced science, reduce costs, and eliminate hazardous waste and safety concerns; however, these tools cannot be considered as equivalent replacements for hands-on laboratory experiences.

Title of the Practice	Hands on Training on Laboratory skills
Evidence of Success	A positive attitude toward science increases independent thinking, decision making, and inculcates an enjoyment of learning. Students not only gain skills in science through outside learning, but their knowledge and skills transfer to other subjects as well.

Going through these steps will improve writing and research skills that will be useful in graduate studies or a professional career.
The practices	Students present their findings at local, regional, or national conferences. University encourages students to consider disseminating the work by publishing their findings in academic journals.
Evidence of Success	The student not only learns the process of research that is selecting a topic, reviewing the literature, collecting data and evaluation of data but it also helps you understand how to find answer to a question scientifically.
Areas of improvement	There is need for improving communication skills, reactiveness amongst students to read and review literature and accept critic and resubmit

BEST PRACTICES OF THE DEPARTMENTS

Department : Media Studies

Title of the Practice	Active Learning
Objectives of the Practice	Learning is not a spectator's sport. Students do not learn much by just sitting in classes listening to instructors, memorizing assignments, and spitting out answers. They must explore what they are learning, write about it, relate it to past experiences, and apply it to their daily lives. They must make what they learn part of themselves.
Context and Challenges	The need for innovative and creative works.
The practices	Students are asked to present their work to the class. Concrete, real life situations are given to students to analyze. Students summarize similarities and differences among research findings, artistic works, or laboratory results. The use of professional journals, technology is encouraged. Students are advised to take up internships, study abroad, service learning and clinical opportunities.
Evidence of Success	Students can reproduce the learning and experience the joy of learning.
Areas of improvement	There is a need to inculcate new learning techniques to make the process of learning more interesting for students.

Title of the Practice	Diverse Talents and Ways of Learning
Objectives of the Practice	There are many roads to learning. People bring different talents and styles of learning to college. Students rich in hands-on experiences may not do so well with theory courses. Students need the opportunity to show their talents and learn in ways that work for them. They can be pushed to learning in new ways that do not come so easily.
Context and Challenges	The usage of software and apps to make learning more interesting and creative.
The Practice	Students are assigned field activities to explore and exhibit the real world of technology.

BEST PRACTICES OF THE DEPARTMENTS

Department : Languages

Title of the Practice	Innovative Teaching Methodology
Objectives of the Practice	Innovative learning is the process of creating an atmosphere where students learn about new things regularly, question them, and think of new ideas on their own. It can involve using technology like – Augmented reality, Deep Learning, or something as common and necessary as the Internet to let students explore and understand things. The main objective thus for adopting innovative teaching is to motivate students to think out of the box and think creatively. After exploring all possible information, the students must be encouraged to formulate their thoughts to list potential solutions.
Context and Challenges	Keeping up to date with ever-changing technologies and striving to find innovative ways to integrate them into a classroom setting are constant challenges to all educators. Clearly, technology is associated with changes in practice, but the nature of this association is complex and contested. Innovation in education has always been related to technological developments, but it can also be achieved by introducing changes to teaching practices, curricula, and learning activities, all of which can be regarded as activities included in the knowledge management and transfer paradigm.
The practices	Flip the Classroom- students review lecture material at home and work on projects and assignments in the classroom. Students in the flipped classroom complete coursework typically sent home as homework in class. The flipped classroom provides a great space for peer-to-peer collaboration. Students can engage one another to complete group projects, debates, and practice. Personalized Learning- Personalized learning provides a catered learning experience and methods that are optimized for individual students. Though these individualized learning journeys are different for each student, the end goal is subject mastery or meeting standards for their grade level. So, we can think of these as different paths leading to the same place. Project-Based Learning (PBL)- Project-based learning is an active method of learning where students gain mastery through the application of their knowledge rather than rote memorization. Like the flipped classroom, the teacher’s role becomes that of a guide and the students take ownership of their learning. Inquiry-Based Learning- develops thinking and problem-solving skills. Instead of driving the class through a lecture-style format, the teacher poses questions, scenarios, and problems. Students then research these topics individually or in groups to formulate their answers. Peer Teaching-Provide them with the opportunity to independently research the topic and create a presentation on it. Set aside class time for students to present to the class to teach their peers about their topic. With peer teaching, students learn skills such as independent study, presentation skills, and confidence. Blended Learning-Blended learning combines physical and online learning experiences that give students more control over the time, place, path, and pace of instruction. The flexibility of blended learning enables students to have more control

	over their learning methods – perhaps they'll watch online lectures at home and engage in peer groups for collaborative activities or maybe they'll prefer to join lecture-based virtual classes and do their homework independently.
Evidence of Success	Improvement in CIA score, and improvement in class participation.
Areas of improvement	Need to increase student participation.

Title of the Practice	Structured Approach
Objectives of the Practice	An ancient language that derives its origin from Sanskrit, Hindi has had a tremendous impact on world history and is recognized as a meaningful language across several parts of the world. The growing Indian diaspora in the world has contributed to the awareness of Hindi as a language associated with the Indian subcontinent amongst the Westerners.
Context and Challenges	Students do not learn the nuances of the language, its syntax, grammar, or application. This results in not only a poor foundation but also a lack of ability to be able to apply their classroom knowledge in the world outside. Poor grades and a weak foundation have also negatively impacted the confidence of many students.
The practices	A discussion session is conducted initially about Hindi as a language and its importance. Information that would be interesting and pique the curiosity of the students is shared. Students are asked to find interesting facts and share them every day.
Evidence of Success	Improvement in CIA score, and improvement in class participation.
Areas of improvement	More students should participate actively.

Title of the Practice	Activity-Based Learning
Objectives of the Practice	To improve the educational experience. For improving the learning outcomes and track progress of students and teachers, activity-based learning has been adopted, to ensure that they learn a new language and are able to communicate in the local language.
Context and Challenges	Kannada is tough to learn, and many non-Kannada speaking students find it difficult to grasp.
The practices	Activity-based learning model enables students to learn according to their capabilities rather than the grade level textbook. It aims to make learning fun and meaningful for students
Evidence of Success	Improvement in CIA score, improvement in class participation
Areas of improvement	More students should participate actively.

Evidence of Success	Majority of the non-computer science students got their placement with the computer skill certification as an added advantage.
Areas of improvement	A dedicated lab facility with good internet connectivity will be beneficial for the learning groups to practice hands-on.

Title of the Practice	Subject Significance and Application
Objectives of the Practice	To create enthusiasm and interest about the subject.
Context and Challenges	Normally when we teach the subject in the classroom, most of the students do not know its applicable. They simply take it passively and go through just to write exams and never understand the real significance of that subject.
The practices	When we start the first session of any new subject at the beginning of the semester, we will first illustrate the students the importance of that subject, chapters involved and where it is applicable and how it is used in the real world. This creates lot of enthusiasm among them. They start thinking and compare the topics to the real-world applications they come across and make the class more interactive.
Evidence of Success	After implementing the above technique, the interaction between the student and teacher are manifold.
Areas of improvement	Trying to identify videos for every topic about the application.

Context and Challenges	International collaboration with UCJC, Spain
The practices	This best practice is conducted in collaboration with UCJC, Spain. The students of Physiotherapy have an opportunity to visit UCJC, Spain and learn the latest physiotherapeutic treatment from our collaborating partner.
Evidence of Success	The first batch of students underwent a course on 'Advance pain management techniques in winter sport's' in November 2019
Areas of improvement	To have a hybrid mode to provide opportunity to all students.

Title of the Practice	Clinical Training
Objectives of the Practice	To provide clinical training sessions daily for the UG and PG students of Physiotherapy

It focuses to provide necessary guidance and information to our students which keep them up to date with employment trends. At our campus, we provide 100% placements assistance to our students to get employment in top MNC's, Hospitality Industry, Tourism and Retail institutions.
Context and Challenges	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Students not willing to take up jobs. 2. Salary packages offered are not competitive enough. 3. Companies expecting students to multitask offering one role. 4. Numerous opportunities due to which students have a lot of other ways to make quick money. 5. Department : Tourism

Title of the Practice	Analysing tourism components at a destination through itinerary preparation
Objectives of the Practice	As a budding professional in the field of travel and tourism, one of the basic activities that we encourage students to try is to identify the components of tourism. Being a service industry, tourism components are of utmost importance for the phenomenon of tourism to be completed successfully. The students are allotted with a destination, and they are made to prepare an itinerary for the same. They are encouraged to choose a circuit. During this time the student must review the various components and elements involved in tourism and for successfully creating the tour package which brings in better understanding about the various players in the markets, products available, etc.
Context and Challenges	The exercise helps students in gaining knowledge about the various types of players in the market, their business plans and strategies, pricing of product which is of utmost importance. Through this exercise, students get a fair idea about pricing of various suppliers. Challenge comes when there is not enough information available especially in the public domain, during such times, the student is made to talk to the local suppliers and derive information from them. Talking to the local suppliers also helps them understand the problems faced by the suppliers and understand the demand pattern at a destination.
The practices	As a part of the activities conducted to engage students, the department has assigned this task to all the students. Each student was assigned with a particular destination on which they are supposed to prepare the itinerary upon. But besides preparing the itinerary, the student is supposed to review the current status of the destination as per the TALC model and identify all the various components of tourism. Once they identify the availability of those components, they search of the actual suppliers who contribute towards the availability of those components. All aspects of transportation system, road networks, railways (wherever applicable), air network (wherever applicable), types of accommodation types which include primary accommodation facilities as well as secondary accommodation facilities, amenities, activities for tourists, and of course the condition of the attractions, options to visit various attractions were analysed and the itinerary was prepared. The itinerary was then shared with the mentor who would review the work.

Evidence of Success	Through this exercise, students have been able to better understand the importance of the components, which they were further able to place in the correct order. Each student stated their analysis by reviewing the destination using the Tourism Area Life Cycle model developed by Prof. Butler. The students, post review of this model was able to determine the state in which the destination is presently in. After this the students review the components. They start with accessibility which is the second component of tourism. This is followed by accommodation. In accommodation the various options that tourists have at the destination is reviewed. This is followed by the various amenities which are available at the destination. Part of the amenities are also included in the infrastructure of the destination, and this is followed by activities. The exercise has helped the students to understand the basic elements which are required for a place to succeed as a destination. It has also helped them in understanding the components of itinerary preparation.
Areas of improvement	One of the biggest challenges faced during this exercise is that students were not able to travel to any of the destinations while analysing it. The pandemic has stopped us from visiting destinations, especially those which cater to mass tourism. If the students were able to visit the destination, they could have seen and learnt the components better rather than learning from secondary data available in the public domain. In the post pandemic times, if the students can go on the study tour and are asked to analyse the destination, they would be able to attain much better understanding about the place.

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY

An awareness program on CHILD SAFETY AND WELL BEING

"The true character of a society is revealed in how it treats its children"
- Nelson Mandela.

The Department of Psychology, School of Social Sciences, Garden City University was involved in the outreach programme as a part of university social responsibility at the GCU adopted Government Higher Secondary School, Ramamurthy Nagar. The agenda of the activity was to create awareness on child safety and well being, which educated the children about importance of being safe, abuse through the cyberspace and social dangers. The topics were curated with the use of charts and art work and interactive sessions.

Though children are being provided with mobile phones for studies, a negative impact that has occurred is that they have become exposed to abuse the social media. Realizing the social neglect and abuse towards children Mrs.Bharathi principal of Government Higher secondary school, Ramamurthy Nagar was kind enough to let us take session for the higher secondary students who were pursuing 8th and 9th standard in their school.

The GCU students split into two groups one led by Ms.Somdatta and other by Mr. Stephen. They helped children understand the dangers of cyber bullying, child safety and to further make the topics interesting, GCU students made charts and Ice breaking session to engage the students and to make the session lively.

It was indeed a great experience for both GCU and Ramamurthy Nagar Government school children. We thank GCU and our psychology department students who took part (Ms. Pearl jesudas, Ms.Olesya J.K, Mr.Chinna maruthu K, Mr. Amal P.S, Ms. Sneha M ,Ms. Nishithivi V , Mr. Hari haran kutty, Jinsha M.K) and Ms. Bharathi ma'am principal of Ramamurthy Nagar Government school, for making this a pleasant experience for all of us.
